

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS – FIELD INVESTIGATORS

TRANSPORT AND CRIME: An Account Of Crimes Against Women In Cabs In Delhi/NCR Region

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Women in Indian cities face sexual harassment on public transport system with an awful consistency. Even though these crimes often takes place in common places there is no official data or is very less data on massive scale of such issues prevalent in the society. These harassments are mostly invisible and anonymous in our society due to large number of under-reporting or non-reporting of such case. The current research study entails an analyses of paradigms around women safety concerns in cabs in Delhi/NCR region and to identifying the key problems faced by women in said situations. Also, to assess various legislative initiatives by the Delhi Government against such crimes in Delhi/NCR region. In furtherance to develop a model ensuring safer travel for women commuters in cabs and control such incidences from occurring in near future in Delhi/NCR region. The project is being funded by National Commission for Women (NCW).
